Blizzard Bag #3

The three common phases of matter are solid, liquid, and gas. An ice cube is a solid but it can be physically changed into a liquid and a gas.

Think about the ways the three phases of matter can be physically changed.

Now, explain to the reader of your paper, how a solid ice cube can be physically changed into a liquid and then a gas.